

Legal Teleconferencing

Serving the needs of attorneys, law firms and their clients

Case and Client Based Conferencing (CCBC) is designed specifically for the legal profession. Our audio, web and video services boost productivity, especially through specialized features like time tracking, reporting, customized billing, transcription and legally binding on-line contract signature verification.

Exceeding Expectations

- The flexibility to assign each of your cases or clients unique or existing conferencing numbers for flexible tracking and easier billing.
- One simple, unified solution integrates all of your audio and web conferencing needs.
- Reservationless conferencing allows users to control when, where, and with whom - any time - from any phone - no prior notice required.
- Review, revise and sign legally binding documents on-line; show contracts, photos or other documents - all in real time, simply by adding Web Collaboration to your audio conference.
- Record and archive calls as needed, even in progress, allowing others subsequent access to the dialog (including inflections).
- For timely reporting, an e-mail is generated one minute after each conference call is completed, documenting your case or client designation, number of participants, and duration of the call.
- Consolidated daily, weekly, monthly and/or annual reporting is accessible 24/7/365 via the Internet, through your secure account.
- Transcription and translation services available 24/7/365 on operator-assisted conferences

Copper River CCBC – best of breed conferencing designed to meet the demanding case loads of law firms.

Call or email us today for a customized quote and free trial offer

Tel 866.476.2464

sales@copperriverinc.com

www.copperriverinc.com

copper river systems™